HIGH SCHOOL LECTURES HOT FOOT BALL GAME

The second number of the High School lecture course is by Welbourne, "The Man Who Harnessed the Sun." It will be on Wednesday, Nov. 24. This lecture is an experimental lecture upon "The Marvels and Mysteries of Modern Science."

Seldom has Perryburg had an opportunity of seeing and hearing an up-to-date lecturer on Modern Science. Consider what improvements have been made in farming, in domestic affairs, in sanitation, in transportation, in communication, etc., through modern science, and we are sure you will be at the auditorium to hear Welbourne.

"One of the most interesting lectures ever delivered in this part of the country."

"You give it to the people in the most interesting way."

"Welbourne is a wonder."

"The evening was one of great educational value."

Such are a few of the things said of Welbourne and his lecture.

Have you gotten your ticket? Course ticket for the remaining four entertainments, 80c adults; 50c children. Single tickets 35c and 20c.

Perryburg and Ann Arbor at Toledo in Fine Contest.

The newly organized foot ball team played their first game last Sunday with the Ann Arbor and it was a fine contest throughout, the first half ending 0 to 0, while the final score was 6 to 6.

Perryburg's score came in the beginning of the first half and was the result of straight foot ball. The home team taking the ball from the kick-off and by a series of line plunges and end runs, carried the ball over for a touch-down and goal was kicked.

The visitors' score was more the result of good luck and a fluke play and was made possible when Perryburg players bungled a punt and one of the Ann Arbor players came through and took the ball and with a clear field ahead of him a touch-down was easily possible. Goal was kicked, ending the scoring as time was called soon after this play.

Next Sunday Perryburg will play the Broadway Athletics on the home grounds, and a good game is assured.

Much unfavorable comment was heard on the manner in which many of the spectators were permitted to flock on the field, entirely surrounding the two teams and proving a hindrance in executing many of the plays as well as preventing others in the grand stand and along the side lines from getting a view of the game. The management should see to it that this custom is abolished and the officials should refuse to permit the play to go on until every individual not on the two teams had vacated the gridiron. This would prove more satisfactory to all and would have a tendency to increase the attendance.

What Would You Do?
In case of a burn or scald what would you do to relieve the pain? Such injuries are liable to occur in any family and everyone should be prepared for them. Chamberlain's Salve applied on a soft cloth will relieve the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a very severe one, will cause the parts to heal without leaving a scar. For sale by C. P. Champney.

YOUR HOME PAPER

Every Person in Town Should Have Its Welfare at Heart.

The local paper in every town acts as a thermometer that faithfully and correctly registers the enterprise of the city, village or territory it represents. If its constituents are hustling, progressive and up-to-date, proud of their home town and ready at all times to give it a boost and squelch any who may attempt to knock, you may pick up the local paper of that community and find it teeming with good things both as regards its citizens, its business and its attractions. In fact, it is the pulse of the people that beats in unison with every movement set on foot for the betterment of good citizenship and the upbuilding of the place they call home.

Hence, every citizen should take an active interest in the welfare of the local paper feeling that it is the mouth-piece through which they are permitted to herald any bit of news or advance any idea to convince the outside readers that their town is just a little better than any other town in the world.

The gathering of local news is the hardest task that confronts a country editor. Many of his subscribers are possessed of a false modesty that prevents them from handing in any item concerning themselves fearing they may be accused of seeking too much notoriety. This is a wrong impression, as nine out of ten people who take a local paper turn the first thing to the local page and devour eagerly every item from the announcement of Mrs. Jones visited at Mrs. Brown to the most startling news of the week. The editor wishes and tries to get all the news but this is impossible without the co-operation of others for he has but one pair of eyes and one pair of ears and unfortunately can be in but one place at a time.

The Journal is no exception to the general run of local papers. We try every week to gather all the news possible and while the people of Perryburg are better than those in many localities there is much that gets away each week that would add greatly to the interest of its readers. Every week we attempt to call by phone all those whom we think likely to be able to furnish us with news. Many times when called on they are unable to respond, not because they have no news to give but simply because it has escaped their memory for the time being. There is hardly anyone that during the week has not had company, been visiting or knows of some neighbor who has. Now if each one would make a memorandum of these things what an easy matter it would be for them to give items to us when called up. It is a duty you owe your town, your paper and yourself. Will you join with us in making this one of the best local papers in Ohio?

A POETIC JURY.

The following item is taken from the Findlay Courier:

During a recent trial in the court of common pleas the jurymen were ordered by the court to retire to their room while the lawyers presented to the court and discussed some legal propositions having reference to the case at bar. After the attorneys had finished their arguments the jury was recalled and one of the jurymen presented to Judge Duncan the following lines and which contain both truth and poetry.

WHO?
Who saves the country in distress;
And, tho' they sometimes have to guess,
They render verdicts none the less?
The Jury.

Who are regardless of the law—
On slightest pretext pick a flaw,
And would the jury overawe?
The Lawyers.

Who sometimes makes the lawyers squirm
And holds the legal sceptre firm
And—well deserves another term?
The Judge.
